

Board and Shareholder Training

Do you want new Board members and new shareholders to be comfortable with co-op basics? Are your co-op's policies worn or lacking? Do you want to increase shareholder engagement in the co-op? Is affordability a concern for your co-op?

UHAB offers classes on these issues and more. Our trademark Small Group Activity Method ensures that shareholders help and learn from each other while problem-solving to improve your co-op's health.

Educated cooperators can herald smoother management processes, more productive meetings, fewer internal conflicts, and even a financially healthier co-op. Boards which offer training not only contribute toward these goals, but also contribute toward transparency which can empower residents. UHAB's aim, beyond the classes, is to have motivated shareholders to commence or noticeably increase participation in your co-op.

Popular topics include:

- Understanding your Bylaws
- Effective meetings
- Co-op Financials
- New Shareholder Interviewing

Contact us at 212-479-3307 or soto@uhab.org to discuss how we can create a tailored training curriculum for your co-op. Classes are taught in English and Spanish.

For more than four decades, UHAB's training has helped numerous shareholders and board members enhance their communities by creating strong and lasting co-ops.
